YOU'VE been in the force for two years. What's the most amazing thing you've seen on the job?
(Laughs) I can't talk too much about specific jobs, but... I don't know. I've had some pretty scary ones...
OK, have these jobs involved violence, physical injury, a car accident – even someone shoplifting a RALPH?
I haven't been to too many bad car accidents. Bodies aren't the best to go to, but I've had jobs with people with guns and people with knives.
Were they threatening you?
Somebody else, usually. But we go to domestics and people have armed themselves with knives, and a lot of psych jobs we go to, people arm themselves with weapons. It's pretty scary, but usually we just manage to talk them down. We've always got back-up if not.
Is being a copper like what we see on Blue Heelers?
(Laughs) I can't stand watching cops on TV shows! It's so false. They're at the pub every night and they've got no paperwork. In Mount Thomas, there are major events happening every single day and it's just not like that.
Do any of your workmates know about the shoot? If so, what did they say?
I told a couple of people once when I was a little intoxicated (laughs) and word has spread very, very quickly ... guys will be guys. I'm not worried about it.
OK, now for four yes/no questions. Have you ever drawn your gun?
Yes.
Used capsicum spray?
Yes.
Shouted, "Freeze!" at a suspect?
(Laughs) No!
Arrested some poor drunk bloke for having a slash in public?
No.
That's good. People shouldn't be arrested for that. It's a horrible law.
I think guys should learn where the toilet is.
But sometimes you're trying to get a cab at 2am in the middle of nowhere. What are we supposed to do, officer?
Girls manage to control it quite well.
True, but they don't get as drunk as us.
I know a lot of girls who'll give it a fair go.
Are you one of them?
If I party, I party hard, yeah. I keep up with the boys a lot.
Has a man ever asked you to wear your uniform in the bedroom?
(Laughs) Yes.
Did you do it?
I can't say.
What sort of guys do you like?
The first thing that attracts me is definitely looks over personality. I don't like guys who are really, really big – I don't find the steroid look attractive. I do like muscles, though.

ALL LINGERIE BY LADY MARMALADE (02) 5503 1699

"MY BOOBS ARE MY BEST FEATURE"

Facially, I like more of a pretty boy.

In the bedroom, are you a slow and gentle person or a wham, bam person?

(Laughs) My moods vary a lot. It depends on how I feel.

How important is size to you?

I think it's very important and any girl who says it's not is lying.

Ever been a problem for you? Or more accurately, the bloke you were with?

In the past? (Laughs) I have been less than impressed.

Is it possible to let a bloke down easily in that situation?

I'm usually very blunt and straightforward.

Oh God.

Yeah, I don't beat around the bush, so if I'm not interested, he'll know about it.

And then he'll seek counselling. What's the best part of your body?

My upper body. My boobs are my best feature.

You didn't have to get a custom-made policewoman's shirt?

No, no. We get custom-made ballistic vests, though.

Did you have to get a plaster mould for that?

No, just measurements.

Crap. Do you reckon the cops should get you and two other hotties and create a Charlie's Angels-style strike force?

(Laughs) I think that'd be awesome but I don't think they'd do it in a million years.

If a criminal sees you through the bars at the local lock-up and falls in love at first sight, what should he do about it?

I've worked in a police station with cells and I've been asked out on many occasions. I can tell you now, the answer's always going to be no.

When blokes find out you're a policewoman, do they make many jokes about extendable batons?

(Laughs) Guys make a lot of jokes about a lot of different aspects of the job – "You can handcuff me any time," etcetera.

Has a bloke ever committed a crime in front of you just so you'd arrest him?

(Laughs) Yes, people have asked to be arrested. If I know they're just being ridiculous, I just explain that my fluffy handcuffs are at home.
